The Tribe did a valiant job staying on the heels of the Twins in the AL Central all season and always within striking distance of the eventual division champions. They would find themselves in a full ten-game deficit on June 18th, then sped off on a 55-35 skein to end the year and just missing a Wild Card spot by three games. The Indians WON the regular season series versus the Twins, 10-9, and dominated the lowly Tigers, 18-1...A total 223 home runs were struck by the Tribe with Carlos Santana leading the way with 34 after a year's hiatus in a Philadelphia uniform. Francisco Lindor popped 32 round-trippers despite missing the first 19 games of the season while dealing with a pesky calf injury he incurred during Spring Training. Santana also led the team with 93 RBI and 110 runs scored. Lindor (74 RBI) scored 101 runs and had the most base hits (170). Jose Ramirez, who got off to an awful start, clubbed 23 homers and finished second in RBI (83). The Indians posted a .250 team BA...The pitching staff turned in a tidy 3.76 ERA (third-best in the A. L.). Twenty-four-year-old Shane Bieber had a sterling campaign with a staff-high 15 wins and 259 punch outs. Mike Clevenger (169 K's) was 13-4 in wins/losses. Closer Brad Hand put up 84 strikeouts but gradually faded as the season went on.
