"The Big Red Machine" got rolling in '70...On June 30th, the Reds opened Riverfront Stadium with its distinct "cut out" base troughs surrounded by an artificial surface...Under new manager "Sparky" Anderson, a relative unknown but who had managed in the minors for Reds GM Bob Howsam, the Reds jumped out to a record of 70-30 and won the N.L. West by 14 ½ games. They swept the Pirates in the NLCS, but lost to a GREAT Orioles team in the World Series, four games to one...Johnny Bench, only twenty-two, reached superstar status by becoming the youngest player in the 20th Century to win the National League's Most Valuable Player Award...Bench led the majors with 45 home runs and 148 runs batted in...He was the best catcher all-around in baseball.

Tony Perez slammed 40 home runs, drove in 129 runs, and scored one hundred seven. Lee May bashed 34 homers and drove home 94 runs. The Reds' 191 homers led the National League as well as their .270 team batting average...Lefty Jim Merritt led the pitching staff with a 20-12 record; Gary Nolan was 18-7 and topped the staff with 181 strikeouts. Fireballing southpaw Don Gullett, nineteen years young, struck out 76 batters...

Wayne Simpson, a former first-round draft pick and a hard-thrower, went 14-3 before suffering a season-ending arm injury late in the year. He was never really the same pitcher again...Pete Rose tied for the major league lead with 205 base hits...The Reds won BOTH season series from the Dodgers (13-5) and Pirates (8-4). The staff ERA was 3.69.
