Much was expected of the Astros in 2016, but they stumbled out of the blocks in April with a 7-17 record. They hit their stride over the next four months (including an 18-8 mark in June), but faded in September at 12-15 to finish 11 games behind AL West Champ, Texas. The 'Stros won only four of nineteen contests with the Rangers...Evan Gattis led the ball club with 32 homers while Jose Altuve and Carlos Correa were co-leaders with 96 RBI each. Altuve led the majors in hits (216). George Springer scored 116 runs...Collin McHugh topped the pitching staff with 13 wins and 177 strikeouts. Ace Dallas Keuchel had an "off" year with a 9-12 record and 144 K's...Closer Ken Giles whiffed 102 batters...For the year, the Astros hit .247 and 198 home runs...The staff ERA was 4.06 which ranked them fifth in the American League.
