The Blue Jays (who won ten of nineteen games versus Boston) finished four games behind the AL East Champion Red Sox...Toronto beat the Orioles, 5-2, in the A.L. Wild Card Game (an eleven inning affair) before sweeping arch-rival, Texas, three games to none in the ALDS. The Indians, the hottest team in baseball, knocked the Blue Jays from the post-season, four games to one, in the ALCS...Edwin Encarnacion was the Jays' leader in home runs and runs batted in with 42 and 127, respectively. Josh Donaldson ended the regular season with 37 homers and 99 RBI. He led the ball club in base hits (164) and runs scored (122). Four other Blue Jays bashed at least twenty home runs: Russell Martin, Troy Tulowitzki, Michael Saunders, and Jose Bautista...J. A. Happ (20-4 W/L record, 163 K's) became the sixth Jays' pitcher to win twenty games in a season. Aaron Sanchez compiled a 15-2 won/loss mark while Marcus Stroman (9-10) led the staff in strikeouts with 166 for the year. The Blue Jays' pitching staff had the best ERA in the American League at 3.78 and allowed the fewest runs (666)...At the end of the year, Toronto had a .248 team batting average and were third in the A.L. with 221 homers.
