Evan Longoria had a marvelous season proving he's the Rays' best player by leading the ball club with 36 homers, 98 RBI, 173 base hits, 81 runs scored, and 41 doubles. Shortstop Brad Miller opened a lot of eyes after clubbing 30 home runs and driving in eighty-one to finish second to "Longo". For the season, the Rays hit 216 homers and .243...Ace Chris Archer ended the year with a 9-19 W/L record, but led the pitching staff with 233 K's and was a central figure in several trade rumors entering September. Hard-throwing righty Jake Odorizzi topped the staff with ten victories and punched out 166 batters...The staff ERA was 4.20...RAYS UP!! Season attendance at Tropicana Field was LAST in the A.L. at just under 1.29 million.
