Newcomer Jose Abreu led the White Sox with 36 home runs, 107 RBI, and 176 base hits. Abreu, a native of Cuba, was named American League Rookie of the Year. Shortstop Alexei Ramirez (15 home runs) was second on the team with 74 runs batted in and had the team high with 82 runs scored. Dayan Viedelo popped 21 dingers while designated hitter Adam Dunn added twenty. Catcher Tyler Flowers was good for 15 round-trippers. The Sox ended the year eighth in the A.L. with a .253 batting average and fourth in home runs (155)...Chris Sale was the leader of the pitching staff with a 12-4 record and a sizzling 208 strikeouts. He walked only 39 batters the entire season. His ERA was the third lowest in the major leagues. John Danks finished the season 11-11. Jose Quintana was a nine-game winner and Hector Noesi won eight. The staff ERA was 4.29 ranking them thirteenth in the league...After April, the closest the ball club came to first place in the AL Central for the remainder of the season was three games out of first in second place with a 31-30 record. At the season’s mid-way point, they were 8 ½ games behind in fifth with a 37-44 record.
