The '96 White Sox featured a host of BIG sluggers: Frank Thomas (40 home runs, 134 RBI); Robin Ventura (34 homers, 105 RBI); Danny Tartabull (27 taters, 101 RBI); and DH Harold Baines (22 dingers, 95 RBI). None was a league leader in any major category. Thomas led the ball club in base hits (184). Tony Phillips scored a team high 119 runs while Ray Durham tallied 33 doubles...At the front of the pitching staff was Alex Fernandez with sixteen wins and an even 200 strikeouts. Lefty Wilson Alvarez was 15-10 with 181 punch outs. Kevin Tapani posted a 13-10 W/L record and James Baldwin rounded out the starters with an 11-6 mark for the season...The White Sox would finish 14 ½ games in back of the AL Central champion Indians who won eight of thirteen games from the "Pale Hose" during the regular season...Chicago hit .281 and 195 home runs--the latter good enough for eighth in the league...The staff was second in the A.L. with a 4.52 ERA and fourth in saves (43).
