Les Expos Mots (Expos Notes): The Reds Pete Rose singles off the Expos Steve Rogers for the 3,000th hit of his career, the 13th player to reach that mark in major league history, May 5th. Rogers was the winning pitcher in a 4-3 victory at Riverfront Stadium. During a game at Stade Olympique (Olympic Stadium) on July 20th, Chris Speier, who was hitting in the eighth spot, hit for "The Cycle" against Atlanta, a 7-3 win for Montreal before just over 14,000 fans. Speier was four for four in the game, including six RBI. He tripled in the second inning, singled in the fourth, homered in the sixth, and doubled in the eighth. His first three hits came off Jamie Easterly; the fourth hit was allowed by Mickey Mahler. The Expos set a team record for the number of hits in a game (28) when they beat the Braves in Atlanta, July 30th, 19-0. The ball club would never surpass that hit record for a game while the franchise played in Montreal. The team held or was tied for first place April 23rd through May 5th and again for one day (tied), May 17th...Three Expos bashed at least 20 homers: Andre Dawson and Ellis Valentine (both 25) and Gary Carter (20). Dawson scored the most runs (84); Tony Perez had the most RBI (78); and Warren Cromartie the most base hits (180). Montreal were seventh in the N. L. with a .254 batting average, fifth with 121 home runs...In '78, lefty Ross Grimsley became the last Expos pitcher to reach at least 20 wins. He was 20-11 with 19 complete games. Rogers was a 13-game winner, completed 11 contests, and led the pitching staff in strikeouts (126). The staff finished sixth in the league with a 3.42 ERA.
