Redbirds on the fly: The Cardinals ended the year 12 games in back of the NL East champion Pirates and 10 games behind second place Montreal. St. Louis dropped both season series: 7-11 to Pittsburgh and 8-10 to the Expos...Several players had excellent campaigns for the books. Keith Hernandez won a gold glove, led the majors in batting average and doubles (48), scored a league-leading 116 runs, and wound up tied with the Pirates Willie Stargell for N. L. MVP. Lou Brock achieved his 3,000th career hit during his final season as baseball's career stolen base leader—at that time. Garry Templeton became MLB's first switch-hitter to stroke at least 100 base hits from both sides of the plate. His 211 safeties topped the ballclub. Templeton also finished with the most triples (19) in the N. L. for the third straight year...Ted Simmons (87 RBI) led the team with 26 home runs while Hernandez was high-man with 105 RBI. "Mex" collected 210 base hits and 11 triples. George Hendrick added 16 jacks and 75 RBI. Cardinals batters posted a .278 BA to lead the league and garnered the most triples (63), doubles (279), and hits (1,594). They hit a combined 100 home runs...The pitching staff completed the season with a tidy 3.72 ERA (6th) and were second with 38 complete games. Pete Vukovich and Silvio Martinez both won fifteen. Vukovich whiffed the most batters (145). Rookie John Fulgham was a 10-game winner and led the staff with 10 complete games...The All Star break showed the Cards in fifth place, 6 ½ games out with a 44-42 record.
