The heart of the ball club, “Buster” Posey, opted out of the 2020 season in relation to the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic. Even so, the Giants, under the leadership of new skipper Gabe Kapler, had a chance to sneak into the post-season. A loss to the Padres at home the last game of the regular season (as well as a Milwaukee win) nixed the opportunity...Wilmer Flores’ 12 homers topped the Giants offense; his 32 RBI were second behind Mike Yastrzemski’s 35. Yastrzemski and Alex Dickerson both contributed 10 jacks to the team’s total of 81 for the shortened campaign. In the absence of Posey, 2018 #1 draft pick Joey Bart was promoted for regular catching duties. Bart’s defensive skills were unquestionably of major league caliber, but in 103 official at bats, he had zero home runs and seven RBI...Reliever Caleb Barager posted the pitching staff’s most wins (5). Starter Kevin Gausman racked-up the most strikeouts (79).
