Any review of the Indians' 1981 season has to begin with Len Barker's perfect game against the Blue Jays at Cleveland Stadium, May 15th. Barker's perfecto, the 10th in major league history at that time, was played before just under 7,300 fans, a night game during which Barker struck out eleven in two hours and nine minutes... The Tribe was a first place team (alone or tied) for seventeen calendar days from May 1st through a doubleheader sweep of Toronto May 17th. On June 1st, they were in fourth place, 3 1/2 games out of first in the AL East and never contended again for the top spot... "Chiefs of the Teepee": "Bo" Diaz (7 home runs, 38 RBI); Toby Harrah (44 RBI); Mike Hargrove (.317 BA, 9th in the majors; .424 on-base percentage, 2nd in the majors; walks [60], 10th); Toby Harrah (64 runs scored, 10th). Miguel Dilone finished the year eighth in stolen bases...Bert Blyleven led the pitching staff with 11 wins and 9 complete games. Barker (8-7 W/L) was ranked third in the big leagues with 127 strikeouts and Cleveland's lone All Star. Blyleven, another "strikeout pitcher", whiffed 107. John Denny won 10 ballgames...Because of a players strike/owners lock-out, the split season saw the Indians complete the first half with a 26-24 record (6th place) and the second at 26-27 (5th). Overall, they wound up the season sixth in the East Division...The idyllic start to 1980 AL Rookie of the Year "Super Joe" Charboneau's big league career quickly took a major downturn mainly because of a back injury which continued to be a chronic problem. In '81, he hit four homers and drove home 18 in 48 games played.
