Kim Ng, now the Marlins former General Manager, made her best deal since joining the franchise in the winter of 2020 on January 20, 2023. She traded three Marlins to Minnesota for second baseman Luis Arraez (pronounced ah-RISE) and a meager $6 million contract. Sixty-two games into the season, Arraez was hitting over .400. He briefly dipped below that mark, but on June 19th, he went 5 for 5 to inch back over .400. During June, he posted three five hit games, setting a Marlins team record and tying three Hall of Famers for the most five-hit games in a month. Selected for his second consecutive All Star Game, Arraez won the major league batting title by .017 points over the Braves Ronald Acuna, Jr. who hit .337. He ended the season third in hits (203) and ninth with a .393 on-base percentage. Jorge Soler (75 RBI) was the team leader with 36 home runs while Bryan De La Cruz and "Jazz" Chisholm, Jr. both hit 19 jacks. De La Cruz had the most RBI (78). In June, Chisholm, Jr. was placed on the injury list with a back strain then was lost the rest of the year on September 10th. Chisholm, Jr. was playing his first season as the Marlins centerfielder...Ace Sandy Alcantara went on the injury list September 4th with a right forearm strain. He was on a rehab assignment in Triple A when he was shut down for the year September 23rd. Alcantara underwent Tommy John surgery October 6th and lost for 2024. The pitching staff's top winner, Jesus Luzardo, won ten games, striking out nearly 11 batters per nine innings. Alcantara had won seven ballgames...The Marlins qualified for the playoffs for the first time since 2003 (not counting the shortened 2020 season) but were subsequently swept by the Phillies, 2-0, in a Wild Card series...Ng resigned her post in October to seek work elsewhere. She must also receive great credit for hiring "Skip" Schumaker as manager. Schumaker was named NL Manager of the Year following his rookie season in 2023.
