The Dodgers jumped into first place on July 2nd and never looked back. Their biggest lead for the year was 7 ½ games, August 21. *... "Sandy" Koufax had a season for the ages as he led the big leagues in ERA (1.88), strikeouts (306), and WHIP (0.875). He tied the Giants Juan Marichal for the most wins (25). Undoubtedly the best pitcher in the game, his extraordinary year earned him the N. L. Cy Young Award as well as the N. L. MVP trophy. Koufax, in the days before the onset of arthritis in his throwing elbow, no-hit the Giants at Dodger Stadium, May 11th. He carried a perfect game into the eighth inning against a dangerously explosive line-up before allowing a walk on a 3-and-2 pitch. He ended the game with four strikeouts and two walks to achieve his second career no-no... Don Drysdale was a 19-game winner, struck out 251 batters, and ended the season with a superb 1.091 WHIP. Closer Ron Perranoski posted the best winning percentage in the majors (.842) with his 16-3 record. Dodger hurlers had the major leagues' best ERA (2.85) and most strikeouts (1,095)... Frank Howard finished among the top ten in the big leagues with 28 homers. Teammate Tommy Davis picked up the major league batting title by .005 points over Boston's Carl Yastrzemski. Maury Wills tied the Orioles' Luis Aparicio for the most stolen bases in the majors... The Dodgers completely dominated the Yankees in the World Series, resulting in a four game sweep. Los Angeles, winning its third world championship, held the Yankees to a .171 batting average--their lowest ever in the post-season--and never allowed New York the lead in any of the four games. The Dodgers batted a meek .214. Tommy Davis hit .400 and former Yankee "Moose" Skowron .385. Koufax was 2-0 and struck out 23 over 18 innings pitched. Both wins were complete games.
