The Rays churned their roster a lot in an attempt to hang with the Yankees and Orioles in the AL East. Names such as Randy Arozarena, Isaac Paredes, Harold Ramirez, Zach Eflin, and Adam Civale all were traded to new homes during the season. What was left had a hard time keeping up...The Rays did pace the league with 178 stolen bases, but had no one hit more than 21 homers (Brandon Lowe). [B. Lowe's last name rhymes with NOW; J. Lowe's last name is pronounced as in LOW.] Yandy Diaz (14 HRs) topped the team with 65 RBI. Jose Caballero, who took over the shortstop position for Wander Franco, the latter restricted from baseball due to serious domestic charges in his native Dominican Republic, finished fourth in the big leagues in stolen bases...The pitching staff produced three eight-game winners: Zack Littell, Taj Bradley, and Ryan Pepiot. Eflin may have been the staff's best pitcher overall before he was dealt to Baltimore at the trade deadline...Arozarena's new uniform showed him with the Mariners, Paredes (Cubs), and Ramirez (Nationals)...A 99-game winning ball club in 2023 with 860 runs scored could compile only 604 (-256) in '24. The team's batting average took a nose-dive: .260 ('23) to .230 ('24)...After Hurricane Milton blew up the Tampa area and tore the roof off Tropicana Field, it's a great unknown where the Rays will play in 2025. Perhaps THAT may turn out to be a positive.
