The Bosox sent nine sluggers who hit 10 or more homers out to face major league pitching. Tyler O'Neill's 31 were tops on the team, followed by Rafael Devers' 28 and Jarren Duran's 21. Duran's explosive break out season included a big league high 48 doubles. He tied Corbin Carroll (D-backs) for the most triples (14). One of the best centerfielders in the game, Duran finished among MLB leaders with 191 hits and 111 runs...The Red Sox's defense betrayed the pitching staff, resulting in 95 un-earned runs. Brayan Bello's 14 wins and Kutter Crawford's 175 strikeouts paced the mound corps...Boston chased the Yankees and Orioles right to the All Star break, placing third, five games out. Third in the AL East was their spot for the rest of the season. As close as two games away from a Wild Card spot mid-year, they finished only five down. Head-to-head against the Yanks and Orioles, the Red Sox were 11-15 overall.
