

PANCAKE!: VOLLEYBALL FOUL CHART

If using the optional foul/injury rules, use this chart on an action card number of “100” (first draw a card to resolve the play): A yellow card is a warning. A red card is an ejection. 2 yellow cards = an ejection.

Card #	Result
1	Visiting player complains to official concerning his decisions. Yellow card given.
2	Home player complains to official concerning his decisions. Yellow card given.
3	Visiting coach complains to official concerning his decisions. Yellow card given.
4	Home coach complains to official concerning his decisions. Yellow card given.
5	Home player talks trash to opposing player. Yellow card given.
6	Visiting player talks trash to opposing player. Yellow card given.
7	Home player makes obscene gesture at opposing player. Yellow card given.
8	Visiting player makes obscene gesture at home town fans. Yellow card given.
9	Visiting player tries to distract opponent as ball is served. Yellow card given.
10	Visiting player throws the ball in disgust at the officiating. Yellow card given.
11	Home player makes vulgar remark to official. Red card given.
12	Visiting player makes vulgar remark to official. Red card given.
13	Home player injured for remainder of this game only.
14	Home player injured for remainder of entire match.
15	Visiting player injured for remainder of this game only.
16	Visiting player injured for remainder of entire match.
17	Home player injured for 1 game in addition to current game.
18	Visiting player injured for 1 game in addition to current game.
19	Home player injured for 2 games in addition to current game.
20	Visiting player injured for 2 games in addition to current game.
21-100	No event occurs.

To determine the player warned/injured, draw a card, and use this table:

2nd digit on the card determines the player position on the team card. Example: On a draw of 36, you would use the 6th player down. If an injured or ejected player's number is referenced during play, use the bottom number on the action card instead. This is the only time the bottom number is used.